

STAR WATCHERS COME TO SEE NEW BABY

[Bethlehem] — Some men who study the stars surprised everybody in this small town when they suddenly arrived on their camels. They had been riding a long, long time, from somewhere across the desert east of Palestine. They came to Bethlehem to see the baby that had been born in a barn.

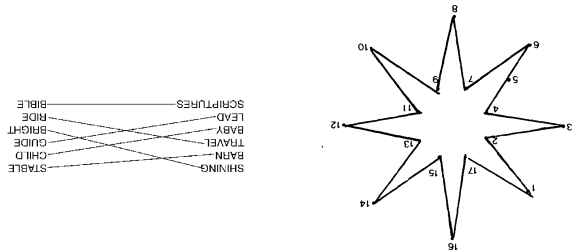

People asked the star watchers what made them want to come. The men answered, "We had to come. We saw a brand new star. It was so bright we knew we had to see where it would lead us." The star brought them to Bethlehem and the new baby.

First the star watchers had stopped in Jerusalem to visit with King Herod. They thought they would find a new king at the place the star showed them. King Herod told them to look in Bethlehem, because in the Scriptures it said a new king would come from that town.

The star watchers brought special gifts for the new baby.
